

International Round Table

Archaeology of Cooking in Ancient Greece: Spaces, Actors, Tools and Recipes in Domestic Context

ATHENS
27/05/21

www.efa.gr

Domestic cooking equipment from Delphi, displayed in the Delphi Museum. Drawing by Maria Hanioti.

Hosting: École française d'Athènes

Webinar registration link:

https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_49EZ9YI4TeW3a4wg86FbqA

While the Classic symposium is abundantly documented by written and iconographic sources, and while the subject of alimentation during Antiquity has been explored by numerous scholars under the consumption point of view, very few has been done yet on the question of the preparation of food in the domestic sphere.

This question leads to numerous questions that need to be explored, from the architectural space where the food transformation takes place, to the actors of this preparation, their instrumentum and their gestures.

Such a subject has to be treated by an interdisciplinary approach and a continuous dialog between specialists in architecture, pottery, archaeobotany, archaeozoology, archaeometry and philology.

Within the process of elaboration of the ArchCook / Archaeology of Cooking in Ancient Greece project, we propose a round-table with two purposes: creating a positive context of meeting and exchanges and defining with more accuracy the problematics of ArchCook. With this event, open to the entire scientific community, we expect participants to share their methods and approaches on the question of cooking and alimentation.

14:00-14:30 Anne-Sophie Martz & Clémence Pagnoux

Presentation of the ArchCook Project

14:30-15:00 Bradley A. Ault & Irene Liesk

The Social Aspect of Everyday Food Tasks within the Classical Greek Household

15:00-15:20 Discussion

15:20-15:50 Hélène Wurmser

A Methodological Approach on Kitchen and Food Transformation Spaces
Identification: the Delian Houses Case

15:50-16:10 Discussion

16:10-16:50 Break

16:50-17:20 Alice Waldner

Preparing Food in Ephesos: Spaces and Objects

17:20-17:40 Discussion

17:40-18:10 Kyriaki Tsirtsis & Evi Margaritis

Unwrapping the Dietary Habits in Classical Sikyon

18:10-18:30 Discussion

18:30-19:00 Final discussion and conclusions

Organisation: Anne-Sophie Martz and Clémence Pagnoux

Contact: arch-cook@efa.gr